Liberal Arts

Small comfortable, close-knit groups, energetic and cohesive classes, open and articulate students, engaging classroom discussions, dedicated teachers, a place to make lasting friendships.

Throughout its rich history the liberal arts tradition has emphasized the acquisition of general knowledge and the development of rational thought and intellectual capacity.

This Honours program stresses the interrelationship of various disciplines, including art, literature, philosophy, politics, history and mathematics. It explores the common concepts and issues underlying the various branches of human knowledge. Competencies have been developed that encourage students to become successful learners, while also preparing them for a variety of university level programs.

The program is a small one where students and teachers form a community. Teachers commit themselves not only to their particular courses but also to the integration of their courses into the program as a whole. In addition, extra-curricular activities enhance the shared pursuit of cultural development. Fieldtrips, theatre and concert outings, museum and cultural visits in and around Montreal, as well as group dinners take place regularly.

What can I do after I graduate with a DEC in Liberal Arts?

Liberal Arts is an excellent preparation for university studies in areas such as law, education, psychology, political science, English, journalism, sociology, anthropology, philosophy, history, fine arts, communications, commerce, and many others.
